Kolmer's Infection, Immunity, Specific Therapy

This is not a book for the laboratory worker alone—not by any means. While the laboratory worker will find in it everything he could possibly want to know about these subjects—even to the late developments of 1914—the book was planned particularly for the man in general practice—the general practitioner. You, therefore, will find here not only the theories, the principles of infection and immunity, the technic of making the various tests and reactions (illustrated in colors), but also—and specially—the significance of the various reactions, their value in diagnosis, their practical application in your daily work. Then the Specific Therapy section: You get here the exact technic, step by step, of making serums and autogenous vaccines and their actual use in diagnosis and treatment. You get definite directions for injecting vaccines, serums, salvarsan, neosalvarsan; definite directions for the tuberculin tests, luetin, mallein, and similar reactions. The last section is devoted to laboratory exercise and experiments.

Dr. Frederick P. Gay, University of California

"I congratulate you most heartily as well as Dr. Kolmer on this extraordinarily complete and interesting treatise. A book of this type fulfills the requirements in teaching for which we have had no adequate provision at all until very recently."

Dr. John C. Torrey, Cornell Medical School

"It seems to be a book of great practical value, and I think the writer and the publishers are both to be congratulated on its production."

Dr. Henry Albert, State University of Iowa

"I find the book covers the subject in a very comprehensive manner, giving particular attention to detail. I regard it as the best work on the subject that has yet been published."

Octavo of 900 pages, with 143 illustrations, 43 in colors. By JOHN A. KOLMER, M.D., Instructor in Experimental Pathology, University of Pennsylvania. Cloth, $6.00 net; Half Morocco, $7.50 net.
